CHRISTMAS REFLECTION
PASTOR ANDY KINDER

Tis the season....What a wonderful time of the year this usually is for everyone. Unfortunately, it is a time that also brings about memories of times past that we wish we could revisit for a few minutes. Christmas gatherings that we reflect on when we still had our parents or different loved ones will flood our minds. Those moments of nostalgia can bring about tears. Yet, God is with us through it all. We cannot lose the joy of this Christmas due to the memories of past Christmases. When the wise men reached the home where Christ was, they could have gotten discouraged. They may have had an expectation of a baby born in a palace or a baby born in a better place than a stable. Yet, the wise men did not get discouraged or upset. They knew that no matter where the Messiah was born it did not change the fact that this was of God’s will. They trusted God that He knew best. Wise people will not allow their circumstances and atmosphere to shift their disposition. Why is this? Because a wise person understands that who they are is led by their purpose. God has spoken His purpose into our lives and if we learn to hear His voice and follow His plan for our lives then nothing can alter or change our course of direction. So, be like the Wise Men. Seek the Messiah wherever He may be found. Seek the Messiah however you may feel. Seek the Messiah no matter what is going on in your life. This Christmas – Seek Jesus!
